Approval of Authorship Credit Instructions

This form should be submitted for consideration of CLE credit for published articles upon publication.

Articles, Monographs, and books directed to non-attorney audience readers, while resulting in self-improvement as a form of self-study, do not qualify for authorship credit.

Applications for CLE credit for published articles will be reviewed UPON publication.

CLE credit granted will be allocated to the compliance period in which publication occurs.

Preparation of written materials for an accredited CLE program but not teaching the program will not qualify for either teaching or authorship credit.

Make sure your information is accurate. This form will serve as the affidavit for your participation. Hours will be added directly to your file unless there are modifications to the credit requested. Incomplete applications will be returned without review.

Please include a copy of the publication with this application. The copy will become property of Kansas CLE. If you wish this publication returned, please enclose a postage-paid return envelope.

Please remember to file within 30 days of publication. Applications may be received at kscle@kscourts.org, or by mail at the address above.

Do not include this page with application.
